

THE FREEMAN.

EBENSBURG, PA., THURSDAY, : : : DEC. 17, 1868.

HOW IT IS.

A fortnight since we succeeded, through the leverage of the Freeman, in pumping an editorial out of the Johnstown Tribune. We intended a reply that would have effectually annihilated our antagonist, but the "weightier matters of the law" postponed our intention; and now, the Tribune is non est. So our neighbor must pardon us for this time, as our neglect to reply is not out of any want of respect for him. Or, if he prefer it, he may apply that luminous maxim of equity to his own case, that "what should be done will be considered as done," and consider the Tribune annihilated by our intended rejoinder.

President's Message.

Owing to the great length of this document we have been forced to condense it in a few particulars in order to bring it within proper bounds for publication in our columns, but on all the leading topics we give the language of the President in full. We present it to our readers without comment. We trust they will do more than did the United States Senate—give it a hearing. We have barely had time to glance over it, and cannot refer to its recommendations or conclusions, but may do so hereafter.

The reports of the various heads of Departments are before Congress. The Message affords a general idea of their bearing.

APOLOGY.

The Allegheanion of last week says that we seek to create the impression that it "copies" or plagiarizes its editorials. We certainly desired to create no such impression. We believe the Allegheanion writes its own editorials, or procures the writing of them, which is the same thing so far as its readers are concerned.

The article on naturalization in its columns, referred to us, introduced the opinion of other editors, and we inferred that it was giving the opinions of other editors—not copying their editorials. If we wronged them in this they have our apology.

But if they are proud of their own editorials why do they seek to explain it away? They did recommend in substance the very changes in the naturalization laws we referred to and condemned. If the editorial was their own, as they say it was, and we admit it was, then they did advocate one year's residence after naturalization—they did advocate giving the sole power to United States Consuls and their officers—they did favor compelling the applicant to advertise in the newspapers. They said these things in good, plain English, and they ought to stand by them.

It is not a bit of difference whether we are an "old man" or not, nor how "witness" our "puns" are. In other words, abuse is no argument.

"Altogether we were first in the field to announce our preference for Gen. Geary where we thought he would be most useful to the State and country, we take occasion to state that, in consequence of this letter to us, we place at the head of our columns the name of Maj. Gen. John W. Geary, as our candidate for Governor, and there it shall remain until after he is elected."

"All we have written about him in regard to his claims to United States Senator, we repeat as particularly applicable to his fitness for the governorship."

"Let our gallant Boys in Blue rally under the banner of the Chevalier Bayard of our State."

"He has ever been without fear and without reproach, as all the hosts of freedom will acknowledge."

"No American—least of all—no Pennsylvanian need be told of the military record of our gallant Geary. Wherever the foe was to be found, there did our noble leader appear to head the combat with all the vigor of his giant nature. In Mexico, in California, and in the grand arena of the rebellion, he ever appeared in the front rank, always exclaiming 'Come on,' and not 'Go, boys,' like some we might name."

"The decision of the Republican State Convention of course must be our guide in this matter, and that decision, we think, as given in advance."

"The above 'eloquent extract' is taken from the Erie Republican. If our memory is not at fault its former editor was the present Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth under Geary, and it is quite likely that he still controls its columns. It is very evident that he is blithely ignorant of the military career of the 'Chevalier Bayard of our State.' In this country, where the former history, both military and civil, of Geary is known, such grandiloquent praise is calculated 'to bring down the whole house.' The editor is especially unfortunate in his allusion to Geary's military record during the Mexican war. We have a faint recollection that after the troops from this county had returned from that war, a meeting was held by them in the Court House in this place, at which resolutions were adopted expressing, in very plain language, that in their opinion, the aforesaid 'Chevalier Bayard' was an arrant coward, and totally unfit to command a regiment. Resolutions of a similar character were passed about the same time at a meeting held in Uniontown, Fayette county, by the troops from that county who had served in Geary's Regiment. All this, coming from Geary's own soldiers, who knew all about his career in Mexico, and who were especially familiar with the storming of Chapultepec, is rather damaging to the claim now set up for Geary as 'the Chevalier Bayard of our State.' We would like to see the Cambria county soldier who served in the Mexican war who will stand up and say, without blushing, that Geary 'ever appeared in the front rank, always exclaiming, 'Come on boys!'" The less that his friends say about his Mexican campaign the better for his reputation. He was most certainly not then a 'Mediterranean Dhu,' 'One blast upon whose bugle horn, 'Was wrenched a thousand men.'"

He rather belonged to that more modern school of immortal heroes of whom the respectable Bob Acres is the shining prototype. But is "our gallant Geary" even a "Chevalier Bayard" in politics? In the first place, the leaders of his own party, as for instance Fitzgerald's Item, asserts in unequivocal terms that he is singularly ineffectual, or in other words, that he will not tell the truth. Was his attempt, in October, 1867, to procure, under the broad seal of the Commonwealth, a fraudulent and illegal vote by the soldiers stationed at Fort Delaware, when he knew that under the law they had not the shadow of a right to vote, evidence of a nice sense of Executive honor and integrity? Or was it not a plain, palpable violation of the law, to effect a base and unworthy purpose, such as no high minded, honorable Executive would resort to? His recent refusal to proclaim Henry D. Foster elected to Congress from the Westmoreland districts, over that Brocton, John Covode, stamps him as dishonest in the discharge of his official duties. It was against all law as well as established precedents. But what better could have been expected from a man of the mental calibre of "our gallant Geary." And yet he was named as a candidate for the United States Senate. Oh! shades of Webster and Clay, and Calhoun, and Benton. But this "Chevalier Bayard" has announced over his own signature, to the editor of the Erie Republican that although he is not a candidate for the Senate he has kindly permitted his friends to use his name as a candidate for renomination to the office of Governor. Will he succeed in his aspirations? Strange things are brought to pass in this leaden headed age, when mediocrity mounts to the highest civil position. When the Radical cauldron boils the scum is seen to rise to the surface. We only hope that the Radical Convention will renominate Geary, with all his imperfections thick upon him. Such political mountebanks must, in the nature of things, at last descend to their proper level. Surely the intelligent people of the old Keystone will not consent to be dishonored by him for another term, but will consign to merited contempt and forgetfulness the weakest, vainest and least competent Executive that ever afflicted this or any other State.

Washington Correspondence.

LETTER NUMBER ONE.

Dear Freeman—I am seated to fulfill a promise long since made of furnishing the readers of the Freeman with whatever I can find worthy of their perusal in the Federal City, either in or out of Congress. My opportunities for obtaining information here are as good as the best, and you and your readers may rest assured that they shall not go unexplored.

There is a degree of petulance manifested here towards every act of the President, totally unworthy of those holding the high positions of Representatives of a great people. The fact is well understood here that the personal relations between the President and the present incumbent are not very good; and Radicals from whom better might be expected, are out todaying each other in order to gain the favor of the incoming, at the expense of the outgoing administration.

Senator Ramsey of Minnesota, brought forward, on Tuesday, his favorite hobby, in the shape of a bill to abolish the franking privilege. The proposition being only a repetition of one made by the same Senator, at every previous session, it met with desultory laughter. Of course it was referred, to "sleep the sleep that knows no waking."

This Senator Ramsey is a Pennsylvanian—Alexander Ramsey, of Harrisburg, and formerly represented the Danville district in the other house. His term expires next March, and Ignatius Donnelly is his Radical competitor before the Legislature of Minnesota. Mr. Dumally is also a Pennsylvanian, being formerly from Philadelphia.

Senator Pomroy, of Kansas, introduced a bill to continue the Freeman's Bureau in Virginia, Mississippi and Texas. You will recollect the Radical press boasted that this source of taxation and corruption would expire at the end of the current year. Indeed, the Rump Congress itself had passed a law to that effect.

The Oregon Legislature had resolutions presented in the House requesting its Senators and Members who voted to impeach the President to resign. The House refused to receive the resolutions, and returned them.

A resolution increasing the tax on copper one to three cents a pound was passed, on the ground, I suppose, that the Rump House desires a monopoly of brass.

The Message came in on Wednesday, and its reading caused quite a scene in the Senate. You will have seen by the Message itself, before this time, that it pours hot shot into the Rump for its glaring and persistent outrages upon the Constitution and the rights of the people. Radical Senator Conness, representing the Democratic State of California, objected to continuing its reading, and when some great Radical by more intelligent Radicals, he was about withdrawing his objection when the pure and immaculate Cameron of Pennsylvania arose in his place and renewed it. There was a flutter—a little sparring—and a motion for adjournment was put and carried.

On Thursday, when the message again came before the Senate, Simon, persisted in his objection to its reading till he was fairly looked down by other Senators, and then yielded with the most possible grace. The Message was then read through and tabled, as the next greatest indignity the Senate could bestow upon it.

A Pennsylvanian cannot but feel a sense of degradation to find his great State represented by such a creature as Simon Cameron. I trust the new Radical Senator from Pennsylvania will give character to the position.

President Johnson recommends in his message a repeal of the Civil Tenure Bill and Senator Butler has made motion to the same effect. As the law was not enacted for any good purpose, but to hamper the President in the performance of his duty, it will no doubt be repealed, now that Grant is elected. That law, though almost every Radical member voted for it, will have but few to sustain it when the occasion that induced its passage shall have passed away.

Of course Butler's purpose is to make fair weather with Grant. He has an "eye single," or rather a single eye, to his own political success. It will be recollect that Grant had him "bottled up" once, but this will relax the "corkage."

You will recollect that according to Radical Reconstruction Georgia "came in" last summer and, by Radical permission, voted for President; but she soon forgot to vote for Grant. On the contrary she voted for Seymour and Blair. Senator Sumner has offered a resolution to the effect that Georgia shall be unreconstructed again—and it is quite probable the Radicals will pass it.

It was proposed to have the Virginia election on the 20th of January next, and a Radical debate grew out of it, in which the only question was whether the State be Radical. If Radical, she should come in—if not, not.

Petitions are pouring in for Woman's Suffrage, and it is by no means clear that the "dear creatures" may not get the right to vote in this District. If the law should pass I don't think many of them will ever vote "on age," for I never found a young lady to acknowledge she was over twenty-one.

It is rumored pretty nearly certain that E. B. Washburn, of Illinois, Gen. Grant's neighbor and confidential friend and adviser, will be his Secretary of the Treasury. Though I see several announcements of the general's Cabinet, I view them all as mere conjectural except that of Washburn. Some are urging little Ned Mac Pherson for P. M. General, with what prospects of success no one can tell. Pennsylvania, unless her Radicals quarrel, will get a Cabinet appointment.

The Democrats here are in good spirits, and enjoy themselves over the troubles of the Radicals. Nothing but the "cohesive power of the public plunder can hold the Radicals together for a single twelve month after the inauguration of Grant. But I have filled my sheet.

Yours, Very Truly, JUNIATA.

The minutest fossil horse yet discovered was lately found by Professor O. C. Marsh, of Yale College, in the tertiary deposits of Nebraska. Although full-grown, as the ossification of the various bones prove, it was only about two feet high. This makes seven species of fossil horse now known to have lived in North America, although, until quite recently, it was generally believed that there were none indigenous to the continent.

Advices from San Kow, China, report the safe return of two Ministers of the London Wesleyan Mission. Upon traveling through China, they were well treated, and saw abundance of coal, iron mines, and of gold, silver, lead and iron mines. Catholic missions were very numerous, and Catholic converts were numbered by hundreds of thousands.

A big brother with a pistol behind the bedroom was one of the concomitants of a marriage out West recently.

News of the Week.

—A three million Catholic cathedral is being built in Canton, China, and another in Pekin.

—Grant despises oratory. Balaam's ass, in his opinion, was not near so intelligent a creature as Bonner's Dexter.

—Among a number of crabs seen recently in Kirby, Va., was one half white, having the most of the feathers in one wing and on the back perfectly white.

—A female servant in the Adams' House, Oshkosh, Wisconsin, was burned to death on Wednesday. Her clothing took fire from the explosion of a kerosene lamp.

—Finley, who attempted to rob and murder Maj. White, in Schuykill county, died the other day, in the Pottsville jail from wounds received in the conflict with his intended victim.

—Helena (Montana) has a curious specimen of gold from Boulder. It is a correct representation of the shell of a snail, and weighs 9.60. It is in its original form, moulded in the rocks.

—What may be expected of Grant, in the event of his having occasion to exercise the "vouch abused" power? "For reasons," "a repetition of one made by the same Senator, at every previous session, it met with desultory laughter. Of course it was referred, to "sleep the sleep that knows no waking."

—Joseph S. Martin, aged sixty years, a resident of Brooklyn, New York, committed suicide by hanging himself with a silk handkerchief to the door knob of his bed room at the State Capitol Hotel, Harrisburg, on Friday.

—A negro named James brutally abused the wife of Rev. Mr. James, of Raleigh, N. C., on Friday, for taking fire-wood. James, upon expostuating with the negro was shot dead by him. The murderer has been arrested.

—Canadian weather prophets predict a hard winter, from the number of bears and other wild animals nearing the abodes of men. We wonder how the bears expressed their fears before the men inhabited the region.

—On Saturday, in Worcester, Mass., a man named Luke Tully attempted to murder his wife. He shot her in three places and then shot himself and gashed his throat with a knife. The woman will recover, but Tully can't survive.

—A young man employed on the Railroad near Chadd's Ford, was killed on Tuesday last, by a derrick falling on him. He was engaged in hoisting a stone, when the apparatus gave way, crushing him in its descent.

—Weston has postponed his walk from Bedford, Me., to St. Paul until the 5th of January, being delayed by the non arrival of expected friends. He will at once go to New York and make arrangements for his return to Bangor to begin again.

—A western millionaire astonished New Yorkers by driving a span of black team, with white harness. The millionaires must be a Radical bondholder. Only Radicals are trying to demonstrate how well the blacks can do in white harness.

—The Winthrop (Me.) Bulletin tells a story of a cat fifty-two years old. The animal is in the family of Nelson Norcross, of Wintham, Mass., and during his early life she went three trips to the West Indies before the mast. She has been the mother of 255 kittens.

—The Chilton (Wis.) Times says that, in the town of Woodville, an Indian and a she bear were found lying together. The Indian had been shot by the bear, and she had attacked her with his knife, and in her dying struggles she had grappled and squeezed the life out of him.

—In the family of Stephen Herrick, of Middlesex, Vt., there are three mothers, three grandmothers, three daughters, two granddaughters, one widow, one son-in-law, two fathers, two sons-in-law, one grandfather and one son-in-law, and only six members in the family.

—There was actually drawn from the United States Treasury to pay for the purchase of Alaska, $7,200,000, but $5,000,000 was not paid. What was the balance? This is a very interesting conundrum. We shall be glad to furnish the answer, as soon as we get it.

—Mrs. Abraham Lincoln while recently making some purchases at a fancy goods store at Frankfort-on-the-Main, suddenly fainted. She was removed to the hospital, and died there. Her death was attributed to the fact that she had been suffering from a brain disease.

—Alexander Willis, (colored) the Federal soldier who was to have been hanged in Raleigh, N. C., Friday, for the murder of Alexander Shelby, has had his sentence commuted by Governor Holden to imprisonment for life in the State Penitentiary. In the eyes of loyal Governors color far surpasses charity in covering sins.

—Strange phenomena are reported in the Sierra Nevada mountains, at the head of Kera river. The earth is said to have been shaking for more than two weeks, almost a constant shake, rolling rocks down the mountains, and the earth waving like the sea. It is supposed that it is a volcano getting ready to burst out.

—A scawlag organ in Tallahassee, Fla., grieves because that State is not represented in Congress by a negro, and it might have been had not the negro better regular Radical nomination. The party was so corrupt that the negro could not swallow it, and the organ will have to be content with a carpet bag representative.

—William Marshall, charged with the murder of his mother and brother, in Platte county, Missouri, some time ago, and for whose arrest a reward of $3,000 was offered, was secured last Sunday in Barry, Missouri, and lodged in Platte county jail. The indictment to the crime was to secure the property which would revert to him at their deaths.

—The Allegan Journal (Mongrel) says: "The Republican party has been truly represented by that sterling and steadfast Republican, Zachariah Chandler." Chandler has been "steadfastly" drunk ever since he entered the United States Senate, and if he "truly represents" his party, they must be a fearful set of inebriates and blackguards in Michigan.

—Mrs. Lyon, of Lehman township, Pike county, is in jail for alleged shooting of her husband. She was charged with the murder of her husband, and it is supposed she was shot by her husband, and while he lay asleep shot him. She is said to be of a quarrelsome disposition, and some words passed between the couple early in the evening.

—An equal suffrage meeting was recently held in Cincinnati, at which fifty persons—twenty-five of each sex—were present. Resolutions were adopted setting forth the principles that in a Republican Government the right to vote should not be restricted to any class, color or sex. An association was formed for the promotion of universal suffrage and equal rights.

—George Francis Train has been set at liberty, the plaintiffs in the case against him having withdrawn the suits. Train has issued writs against the Marquis of Abercorn, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, for $100,000 damages for false imprisonment, and against the Ebbwvale Steel Company for $20,000. Train has sailed in the Australasian, from Queenstown, for New York.

Lynch Law in Indiana—Express Robbers Hung by a Mob.

A vigilance committee, said to hail from Seymour, Indiana, arrived at New Albany at eleven o'clock Saturday night, and at three A. M. proceeded to the Floyd county jail and demanded admission, which was refused by the jailer. He was, however, soon overpowered and tied, and the watchman was compelled to open the cells of the notorious express robbers, John, Frank and Simon Reno, and Charles Anderson, who were immediately seized upon and a four hour train, started at New Albany for the tragedy at New Albany has been received here. About three A. M. Luther Whitten, one of the outside guards of the jail, was met at the entrance by a party of men, who presented pistols at him, demanding silence or death. Whitten, however, shouted, but was seized, knocked down, and informed that if another shout was uttered he should die. By this time the jail office was filled with men searching for the keys. Sheriff Pullalove, understanding the situation, came down from his sleeping apartment and gained the door leading to the grounds on the west side of the jail. He met an armed force, who directed their pistols at him. He exclaimed, "Gentlemen, don't shoot; I am Sheriff." One of them shot, however, the bullet taking effect in his right arm, inflicting a severe and painful wound. The keys were demanded, but he positively refused to surrender them. About a dozen of them then entered Pullalove's room, where his wife lay in bed, and demanded the keys of her, which she refused; but they succeeded in finding them concealed in a drawer, and Thomas Mathews, one of the inside guards, was compelled open the cells of the mob. The mob had determined to hang Frank and William Reno first, and they were dragged out and hung alongside of each other on the same pillar. Simon Reno was then brought out, but he fought the mob with great desperation, knocking one or two down before he was overpowered and left suspended between the ceiling and floor. Charles Anderson, the last victim, was heard to beg for the privilege of praying, but his request was refused, and he was hung at the southwest corner of the jail cell.

After threatening to kill the Sheriff, the mob proceeded to the train, carrying with them the jail keys. From the jail to the train armed men stood on guard to prevent any alarm being given.

At four P. M. the train, with the entire party, consisting of seventy-five to one hundred men, started off. They came well armed and equipped for the work. They intended to hang a man named Clark, the murderer of George Tille, but they concluded not to do so, fearing to remain longer. These vigilantes came from Seymour, Indiana. A car by themselves, attached to the regular train.

Charles Anderson and Frank Reno were surrendered by the Canadian authorities upon a solemn pledge by the United States Government that they should have a fair trial, and if found innocent should be returned to Canada.

A MYSTERIOUS REVELATION—A Witness of the World Before the Flood.—A queer examination was made in the Strip Vein Coal Bank of Captain Lacy, at Hammondville, O., one day last week. Mr. James Parsons and three other men were engaged in making the bank, when a huge mass of coal fell down, disclosing a large smooth slate wall, upon the surface of which were found, carried in bold relief, several lines of hieroglyphics. Crowds have visited the place since the discovery, and many good scholars, but all have failed. Nobody has been able to tell in what tongue the words are written. How came the mysterious writing in the bowels of the earth, where probably no human has ever penetrated? By who and when was it written? There are several lines, about three inches apart, the first containing twenty-five words. Attempts have been made to remove the slate wall and bring it out, but upon tapping the wall it gave forth a hollow sound that would indicate the existence of a hollow chamber beyond. The characters would be destroyed in removing it. At last accounts, Dr. Harrison, of Mount Union college, has been sent for to examine the writing.

A novel lunar phenomenon was visible at Norwich, Conn., on Tuesday evening. It was a distinct and perfect duplicate was reflected close by its southern side. It continued thus for many minutes, and was observed with interest by many people.

HOLDERS OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

Can realize a handsome profit by exchanging them for the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE Union Pacific Railroad OR THE FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE Central Pacific Railroad

On this date, October 19. For $1000 U. S. 6s of 1861 we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $124.33.

For $1000 5-20s of 1862 we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $100.33 cash.

For $1000 5-20s of 1865, May and November, we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $25.08 cash.

For $4000 5-20s of 1865, January and July, we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $78.08 cash.

For $1000 5-20s of 1867, we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $76.08 cash.

For $1000 5-20s of 1868, we would give $1000 Union Pacific Railroad Bond and $25.58 cash.

In case Central Pacific Railroad Bonds are preferred, the difference would be $10 less on each $1000 exchanged.

The difference will vary slightly as Governments go up or down.
